Biography

David Koons is lifelong advocate of personal responsibility in the areas of self defense and personal protection.

When he was asked by a friend;

“What do you tell your kids about safety?”

David answered by creating “Protect and Defend,” a company dedicated to empowering individuals and organizations to protect themselves, and if necessary, to defend themselves, from the trespasses of others.

David speaks to college students, executives, employees, small business owners, entrepreneurs, direct selling associates and independent professionals.

He leaves the audience knowing they have the tools and strategies to avoid becoming a victim while increasing their likelihood of successfully navigating the risks in these precarious times.

What most people remember about David is that he served for eight years with an elite Special Forces unit in the United States Marine Corps.

Attaining the rank of Captain, David led hundreds of Marines through a myriad of adventures from jumping out of planes to swimming for miles in the ocean, all under the cover of darkness.

He is an expert with dozens of weapons, martial arts and numerous hand-to-hand combat techniques.

As a member of US Marine Force Recon, he has worked with other elite units to include; the Navy SEALs, Army Green Berets, the FBI, US Secret Service and other governmental and non-governmental organizations.

His military experience was instrumental in teaching him how to keep fear, doubt and adversity from standing in his way.
